A Pleasant Evening.

What a difference music makes in the entertaining of guests. How it fills up those awkward little silences which will occur, and make everybody feel that they are somehow to blame for not saying something. Music in the evening is like sunshine in the day time—it brightens and cheers everyone. It is instructive as well as amusing and restful. And why music of some kind isn't in every home, we can't help wondering, especially when we sell for $200 a fine new Piano.

CRISIS PENDING.

Lively Times Promised in the Coal Mining Regions.

Miners' Officials Claim There Will be a Complete Tie-up—West Virginia Miners Waiting.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 26.—Lively times are promised in the coal mining situation this week. A crisis is pending. This is conceded on all sides. The arbitration commissioners on the one side, feel hopeful that they will bring about the initiative for a settlement at the meeting Tuesday morning. The miners' officials, on the other hand, claim to have adopted measures that will make a complete tie up. It has developed that many of the West Virginia miners are awaiting word from the Pittsburg district, and especially from the New York and Cleveland mines. They want to hear of the miners in these mines having joined the general suspension. This, it is claimed by the officials, will bring all the faltering ones in West Virginia into line, thus making the strike effective in that it will shut off the supply of coal. To accomplish this, arrangements have been made for Eugene V. Debs and other prominent officials to come to this city and hold a meeting for the benefit of the New York and Cleveland miners Thursday morning. Among the others expected to be present are Samuel Gompers, M. D. Ratchford, M. M. Garland and W. D. Mahon. At this meeting it is intended to strike a final, decisive blow, and if possible make the tie-up complete.

The place has not been selected as yet, but it will be in a grove in close proximity to the Turtle Creek, Sandy Creek and Plum Creek mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company. The reputation of Debs, it is expected, will prove to be a magnet, and 12,000 miners are looked for at the meeting. The meeting at Scotdale Tuesday of the miners in the coke districts and the meeting of labor leaders at Wheeling are also looked upon as important features at this period of the strike.

Should the West Moreland miners be brought out there are fears for serious trouble at DeArmitt's mines.

Reports from the coke regions indicate that the cokers will not be likely to come out. The board of arbitration report matters quiet, waiting on the result of the meeting tomorrow, which, they claim to think, means much toward the result of the proposed settlement of the strike by arbitration. An effort is being made to have as many river men attend the meeting as possible.

A MINE RUNNING.

CANONSBURG, Pa., July 26.—The mine of Scott & Sons, at McGovern, is running today. About 100 men are at work. There is no indication of trouble there this morning. The camping strikers are still on the scene. About 100 fresh recruits arrived there yesterday and about fifty more this morning, bringing along provisions enough to last them several days. Many of the wives and children of the encamped strikers from Miller's Run came over yesterday and visited the camp, returning in the evening. The strikers are still hopeful of winning out and are determined to remain until an end is reached.

BREAK FAILED TO OCCUR.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 26.—Today the great break among the miners failed to take place and the organizers are disheartened. Debs and Mahon have gone to Wheeling, not expecting to return. All depends on the action of the executive boards of the labor organizations at Wheeling tomorrow. This morning the men at Hutchinson and Luther both joined the strikers, but as the four Watson mines still stand solid the movement has been a failure. Senator Camden said Saturday night that he wanted to see it rain all day Sunday to keep the enthusiasm down, but the boiling sun of yesterday had the same effect, as the men who work under the ground cannot stand the heat. As far as the Fairmont district is concerned the strike is a failure.

MORE MINERS OUT.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 26.—Mr. Mahon wires President Ratchford that between 5,000 and 6,000 miners are out at Fairmont and the victory is won. Mr. Ratchford predicts good results from the Wheeling meeting.

INJUNCTION PAPERS.

FAIRMONT, W. Va., July 26.—Today the Monongah Coal company, Senator J. N. Camden's plant, and the West Fairmount Coal company, ex-Governor Fleming's plant, got out an injunction before the circuit court restraining Eugene V. Debs, et. al. from interfering with their men. The et. als. take in Mahon, Rea, Crossley, Miller, and over 100 miners and all of these can not now hold meetings on the company's grounds or on the roads leading there, and can not interfere with the men in any way. Intimidation and threats are mentioned and miners can not now loaf on the grounds.

NECK BROKEN.

Such is the Fate of the Alpine Climber.

His Body Found at the Bottom of a Crevasse—He Lost His Way and Fell.

PARIS, July 26.—A special dispatch from Grenoble says that the body of young Borrel, the daring Alpine climber, whose venturesome feats have attracted attention this summer, and who started on the 14th to make the ascent of Mount Taillefer, has been found at the bottom of a deep crevasse, with his neck broken. Mr. Borrell was only nineteen years of age. Evidently he had lost his way in the fog.

NOW OPERATIVE.

The Tariff Became a Law Last Saturday

And Brewers Who Bought Stamps on That Date May Have to Put Up More Money.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The secretary of the treasury holds that the new tariff act was in effect at the beginning of the day on which it received the approval of the president, and therefore became operative after midnight on Friday, July 23.

Assistant Secretary Howell today sent the following telegram to collectors of customs:

"Department holds that new tariff law covers and includes all customs business of July 24."

Later in the day a formal circular of instructions, covering more fully the department's views on the subject, will be printed and mailed to all customs collectors. The opinion of the attorney general has not been requested on the matter, the department holding that the question is of sufficient importance to justify them in taking it to the courts for final determination, independent of what the views of the law officers of the government might be as to the merits of the case.

Senator Allison was at the treasury department today and in the course of a conversation on the subject said that in his opinion there was no reasonable doubt that the act covered all of the day on which it became a law. This also is the view of all of the prominent officials of the treasury department, including the collector of customs at New York and several of the leading ports of the country. Sufficient data upon which to base a close estimate of the amount of duties involved has not been received, but it is stated roughly that it probably will be between $100,000 and $200,000. The internal revenue department probably will save even a greater amount by the new ruling than the customs branch of the service.

During the five days from Tuesday, July 20, to and including Saturday, July 24, the internal revenue stamp agencies sold approximately $5,181,000 in beer stamps alone, and of this amount it is estimated that not more than one third or $1,727,266 reached their destination before the act went into effect.

The saving to the government on these sales of beer stamps alone is expected to aggregate not less than $100,000. Commissioner Forman today telegraphed all stamp agents to settle only on the basis of the increased rate of 7½ cents per barrel, and it is expected the instructions will apply to all cases where the stamps were not actually fixed to the packages before the new rate became operative. No figures as to the amount of cigarette stamps disposed of have yet been received, but it is believed that the sales have been abnormally large, as the rate of tax on cigarettes, speaking generally, was increased 100 per cent., or from 50 cents per 1,000 to $1, the inducements to tobacco manufacturers to lay in a large supply were even greater than in the case of the brewers.

THE COURTS.

Judge Dawson Grants Two Divorces.

The Clatya Hoover Habeas Corpus Proceedings Dismissed—Wants $10,000 Damages.

Judge Dawson heard two divorce cases today. Mary J. Diffendarfer was granted a divorce from her husband, Albert Diffendarfer, and was awarded alimony, the amount which was not on record. The defendant is the man whose actions have lately been aired in the justice courts.

Herman Plock was granted a divorce from Margaret Plock.

CLATYA HOOVER CASE.

The habeas corpus proceedings brought by the parents of Clatya Hoover against the Allen County Orphans' home were dismissed today. The officers of the association claim that they were prepared to show that the parents were not proper persons to have possession of the child, and that they had papers in which the mother signed the little one away. The people, did they know all the circumstances, would approve the action of the officers of the home.

WANTS $10,000 DAMAGES.

Catharine Dennis, administratrix of the estate of Albert Dennis, commenced suit this morning against the city of Fort Wayne for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband. Dennis was one of the men killed in a sewer in Lakeside, May 24.

COURT NEWS.

Judge Watkins is hearing more testimony in the case of H. B. Claflin & Co. vs. Louis Wolf.

AL. FOOTE

Tells of the Suffering on the Klondyke.

The Former Fort Wayneite Says That Men With Thousands of Dollars of Gold Dust Are at Times Forced to Beg.

DULUTH, Minn., July 26.—W. A. Foote, of this city, has just returned from Seattle, where he had a number of interviews with miners who have just returned from the Klondyke. The stories of the vast richness of the country, Mr. Foote says, are almost beyond belief, but the cost of transportation is great, and unless one takes sufficient food for at least eighteen months he is likely to suffer for the want of it.

Men with thousands of dollars' worth of gold dust were begging for bread just before the boat came up the Yukon early in the spring. People who had provisions had only enough to satisfy their own wants, and would not sell any supplies at any price.

Others suffered from want of the proper clothing to withstand the extreme cold, and they could not obtain it for any price anywhere in the gold country.

"According to those who have just returned from the Klondyke," said Mr. Foote, "the great danger lies in the fact that hundreds of people will probably go into the gold fields this winter without provisions enough to last them for at least a year. The transportation company will not allow them to carry enough, and there is great probability that they will not have enough in their own stores along the Yukon to supply the people who are already there.

"Unless people can take enough along to sustain life during the rigorous winter to come, they had better not go until spring. It won't make any difference how much money they have, they will not be able to get provisions.

"Last winter a great many people survived for weeks on salt pork, without any vegetables of any kind. Some suffered greatly from the intense cold, and there is no doubt but persons who took up claims some distance from regular camps died of exposure and starvation.

"The miners with whom I talked in Seattle did not suffer any hardships. They were prepared for anything. One of them, a Mr. Lippy, together with his wife, lived in a camp on the Klondyke all winter. They dug up the frozen earth along the stream, took it into their cabin, thawed it out and panned out the gold.

"A large amount of the frozen earth that was taken out was stacked up in the cabin until spring. During the winter, at odd times, Mrs. Lippy picked $15,000 in nuggets out of it. This spring Mr. Lippy panned it out and obtained $50,000 more from it.

"They did not suffer any hardships, either from the cold or for want of provisions. Last spring they set out several onion plants and in a few weeks had spring onions. They also had potatoes, which they had raised in Alaska, for use on their table all winter.

"The miners report considerable scurvy in some places, but in the main people were free from it. They all tried to discourage me from going to Alaska this winter, however, because of the great danger of suffering and hardship."

CANADA FAVORED.

Dyea Made a Sub-Port of Entry at Its Request.

United States Pacific Steamship Companies are Exercised at the Action Taken by the Treasury Officials.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The Pacific coast steamship people are much exercised over the action of the treasury department in making Dyea a sub-port of entry, which they claim was done at the request of the Canadian Pacific Navigation company, through the dominion government. The Canadian Pacific company operates a line of steamers between Victoria and Juneau and asked to have United States customs officers placed on board their boats which they wanted to run through to Dyea direct, these officers to collect duties and thus obviate necessity of landing cargoes at Juneau. The treasury department went even further and made Dyea a sub-port of entry. The local steamship companies say this will turn gold hunters from the east to the Canadian route to the injury of the local line.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 26.—The steamer City of Topeka arrived here from Alaska at 2 o'clock this morning. The Topeka brought no Klondyke passengers nor glittering gold. The captain reports that the miners are flocking to Dyea by the score from Juneau and Sitka and that both places threaten to be depopulated.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., July 26.—The steamer Mexico has left here with 100 passengers, all except fifty being bound for the gold fields. All went well provisioned and equipped. Many have supplies for a three years' stay. The party was made up of men representing all callings and professions, including many time scarred veterans who joined the rush to the gold fields in California nearly half a century ago.

Proceedings to Forfeit the Bermuda.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Norwegian fruit steamer Leon which arrived this morning from Port Antonio, Jamaica, brings advices that proceedings have been taken by the court of admiralty at Kingston against the owners of the British steamer Bermuda, prominent in Cuban filibuster expeditions, to have her forfeited to the crown. This step has been taken for a breach of the merchants' shipping act, caused through an alleged defect in the steamer's registration.

JAPAN OBJECTS.

Don't Want Uncle Sam to Annex Hawaii.

Fears Such a Move Would Result to the Disadvantage of the Imperial Government.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—That Japan will continue to oppose the Hawaiian annexation treaty is conclusively shown by the latest protest of the Japanese government, under date of July 10, which has been made public. The Japanese reply in part is as follows:

"LEGATION OF JAPAN, WASHINGTON, July 10.—SIR:—Replying to your note of date the 25th ult. in answer to mine of the 19th ult. regarding the proposed annexation of the Hawaiian islands to the United States, I have the honor to inform you that I communicated in substance to Count Okuma, from whom I am in receipt of telegraphic instructions, embodying the views of the imperial government in relation thereto.

"Taking note of what you say in reply to the representation I had the honor to make, on behalf of my government with reference to the necessity of maintaining the status quo of Hawaii, the imperial government has no hesitation in admitting the predominant influence of the United States in the Hawaiian islands. In their opinion, however, the very fact that such predominance has existed so long unquestioned might be urged as a reason against the disturbance of the status quo, more especially as practically the whole population of Hawaii acknowledged the paramount importance of the relations of their country with the United States, while it is understood that only a small fraction of them now favor annexation.

"The imperial government recognizes it as a well established principle of international law that the completion of annexation would render the treaties and conventions at present existing between Japan and Hawaii voidable, either at the option of Japan or the United States, but they cannot anticipate without apprehension of the consequences, whether direct or indirect, which would follow the practical consummation of the theory that annexation, ipso facto, means the immediate termination of those treaties and conventions and the consequent cessation for the future of the privileges granted thereunder."

ANDERSON DEAD.

Was a Veteran in the Railway Service.

Held the Office of General Superintendent of the Fort Wayne Road in 1858.

MANHATTAN, Kas., July 26.—Col. John B. Anderson, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Central Kansas, is dead. Col. Anderson was born in Washington county, Penn., eighty years ago. He graduated from Washington and Jefferson college in 1832. He founded and for several years conducted the Anderson Collegiate institute and the Anderson Female institute, of New Albany. He was at one time general superintendent of the New Albany and Chicago railroad and in 1858 was general superintendent of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago. At the opening of the civil war he was superintendent of transportation of the Louisville and Nashville railway and the commander of the army of the Cumberland placed him in charge of all military railways in his department. Secretary of War Stanton recognized his valuable services and conferred upon him the title of colonel in 1863. Of late years he has been identified with different railroad projects in the west.

FATAL DRUNK.

Sad Ending of a Disgraceful Carousal.

Two Miners, While in a Drunken Sleep, Assailed and Mortally Wounded by a Companion.

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 26.—Hermine, a little mining village at the terminus of the Hempfield branch, was the scene yesterday morning of what will in all probability prove a double murder. James Porter and John Hyde, two striking miners, were visiting Robert Rodgers, who is employed in the Ocean mines at Hermine. Saturday night they drank heavily and soon became dead drunk. They all lay in a stupor until yesterday morning about 5 o'clock, when Hyde awoke and, getting an old axe, which was in the room, proceeded to use it upon his two sleeping companions. He struck Rodgers on the head, fracturing his skull and rendering him insensible. He then attacked Porter, fracturing his skull besides cutting a terrible gash in his neck. The injuries of both men will likely prove fatal. Hyde is in jail.

WAIFS MADE HAPPY.

Work Being Done by the Allen County Orphans' Home.

A Place Where Kindly Influences Assist in Molding a Character—Children Learn to be Industrious.

The progress of a work so worthy and important as that carried on at the Allen County Orphans' Home cannot fail to interest the general reader. It is human nature to feel a tender sympathy for unfortunate children and it is a pleasure to know that there is in existence here a refuge for those little ones who by circumstances and/or sinful are left in surroundings unfitted for their proper development.

Sunday, a SENTINEL reporter visited the orphans' home, where he was cordially received by Mrs. Isa Overmyer, the matron. He was shown through the buildings and was accorded the privilege of mingling with the matron's happy "family." There were thirty of them. Their rosy cheeks and bright eyes, told the story of healthful food, plenty of fresh air and exercise, and the merry ring of their voices was a convincing argument that no matter what their previous life had been, they are now happy.

The orphans' home is true to its name. It is more like a "home" than an institution. Its cheerful and sweet smelling rooms bespeak plenty of light, cleanliness and good ventilation. As one approaches it from South Broadway it does not present a grim and unforbidding aspect so common in public institutions. On the contrary it nestles cosily among the trees of well laid out grounds and has the appearance of being just what it is—an inviting home for children.

The Allen County Orphans' Home has become one of our most worthy and valuable institutions. Its work is of that broad character that should enlist the sympathy and support of all our charitably inclined people, without regard to race or creed. The organization was formed December 4, 1884, and until the county erected the present commodious and creditable building the work was very much hampered and the results were but meager. The home as we have it today was begun in September, 1885, and completed and occupied in January, 1886. The articles of incorporation and the by-laws of the association, give a general idea of the methods of administration and the purposes sought to be served.

Since the organization of the home, ninety-seven children have been received. These have been of all ages, ranging from the infant a few hours old up to children twelve or fourteen years of age. Many of them have been found in extreme destitution, some of them had been abandoned, and but for the existence of the home all of them would either have been left to grow up in ignorance and vice or be cared for at the county alms house.

The plan pursued is to seek to place the children in good homes, where they will be likely to receive such education and moral training as shall lead them to grow up into useful men and women. Except in cases where the child is legally adopted, thus making it in law equal with the child of the parents' own flesh and blood, the children are placed in homes on certain specified conditions. The parties taking a child must give satisfactory evidence of good character, and must agree in writing to care for and educate it to the best of their ability until the child is eighteen years of age. The officers of the Home make it their duty to visit homes in which children have been placed, as far as possible, once a year, and they reserve the right to take the child back if they are convinced that it is not well located. Since the Home was organized, homes have been found for sixty-three children. There have been, thus far, but two deaths, which in view of all the conditions and circumstances is a very low rate. There are at present in the home thirty children.

While the Orphans' Home is a public institution, receiving a certain amount of aid from the county, still the amount per capita allowed by law is not sufficient to carry on the work. Were the institution a very large one, containing two or three hundred children, it might be sufficient, but as it is, those having charge of the institution must depend on the liberality of the charitable public to make up the deficiency. To this end, the board of managers desires to state that all donations of clothing, provisions, bedding and money will be gladly accepted and heartily appreciated. At this time of year when fruit is being canned it would be thoughtful of kindly disposed persons to put up an extra can to donate to the home. Much of the work that it has been possible to do, has been the result of generous contributions on the part of the community. In the past almost enough clothing has been donated to clothe the children, when supplemented by the ingenuity and industry of the most excellent matron.

The last legislature made provision for the employment of an agent of the State Board of Charities whose duty it should be to inspect orphans' homes and enforce the laws for the protection of dependent children. It is a matter of congratulation that the state agent when recently visiting the Allen County Orphans' Home found it possible to highly compliment the management for the excellent and cleanly condition in which he found everything, including the wardrobes, beds and clothing of the children.

The children under Mrs. Overmyer's kindly influence have become imbued with a spirit of industry that is gratifying. The girls are taught to sew, do housework and many of the duties that fall to their sex, while the boys are made quite useful in the garden, and other outdoor work, such as milking the cow, weeding the lawn, etc. There are work hours and play hours, and there are times when they all gather in the big sitting room to rest and talk and pass the hours away. "Mother" Overmyer, as the pleasant matron is affectionately called by her proteges, is omnipresent. She personally looks after the children, and lives among them. This advantage cannot exist in the large institutions, where inmates are in charge of attendants.

The home feels the need of more ground. There is a much coveted field of ten acres directly opposite, which the boys of the home could cultivate and raise potatoes and other substantials. This field is a portion of the county poor farm and the commissioners have been asked to surrender it for the purposes of the home. This they have not decided to do at the present, but may pass favorably upon the matter later. The institution is doing a grand work and its welfare should interest every loyal citizen.

BISHOP WALDEN.

An Eminent Methodist Divine Visits This City.

Delivers a Lecture at Wayne Street M. E. Church—The Redemption of Africa is His Passion.

The Rt. Rev. J. M. Walden, D. D., L. L. D., bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, residing at Cincinnati, Ohio, visited our city on Sunday, and was the guest of the Rev. Dr. H. W. Bennett. He arrived on Saturday and left early this morning. He expressed great satisfaction over the elegant Wayne street church. On Sunday evening at the Wayne street church, to a large and intelligent congregation, he delivered his lecture on Africa. He used a large map of that continent to illustrate his theme. He described Africa as its size, population and resources. He spoke of the earliest civilizations which throve along the Nile, of the rise of Mohammedanism, of the long centuries when it was the "unexplored regions," of the voyages of discovery, of Livingstone's missionary work, of Stanley's explorations, of the now open and known land, and of the protectorates now exercised over all its millions of people, by republican France, and protestant Germany and England. He pointed out the marks of Divine interference in the opening up of Africa, and on the preparation of men and agencies for its civilization and evangelization.

Our own nation has a deep interest and has exhibited it. Liberia is the child of this republic, and that little state is a republic governed by Africans, and established as an asylum for emancipated slaves. There the descendants of Africans, born and enslaved in this land, were granted liberty and self-government. There the Methodist church had its earliest foreign mission, and there is a light which may yet inspire all Africa to liberty and self-government. He then showed how slavery had been used by God for the civilization and elevation of the negro, and how since freedom came education had come, and the church was now training and preparing men and women for work in Africa. Out of a Methodist training school at Nashville the first female medical missionary, an African, had been sent to that continent. The bishop has a training school for this purpose at Nashville, for the payment and support of which he is personally responsible. The work of the redemption of Africa is a passion with him. His interest is absorbing and he strove successfully to awaken interest in others for this great work. After the lecture he held a reception at the altar of the church, shaking the hands of many hundreds who came forward with thanks, money and greetings. The bishop will be at Rome City on Friday of this week.

PREDICTS WAR

Between Great Britain and the United States.

The London Times Says Difficulty May Arise From the Discovery of the New Gold Fields.

LONDON, July 26.—The Sunday Times, in a sensational article, predicts war between Great Britain and the United States, and says another letter upon the seal fisheries question will follow, but that this will fail to elicit a protest from Lord Salisbury.

A new source of trouble, according to the Sunday Times, is probable as a result of the recent gold discoveries upon the Yukon river and its branches.

The Sunday Times asserts that confidential communications between Russia and the United States are being exchanged with a view of contending that the Klondyke regions constitute a part of the territory of Alaska ceded by Russia to the American government.

HEART DISEASE

Suddenly Ends the Life of Mrs. W. J. Woods.

While Walking Along the Street She is Stricken—Mortality Record of a Week.

Mrs. W. J. Woods, whose husband is a foreman at the works of Seemhauer & Co., died suddenly Saturday evening at 5 o'clock at the residence of Timothy Foohey, 35 Douglas avenue, where she had been carried after falling on the street. In the afternoon Mrs. Woods left her home, 12 Breckenridge street, and went to Dr. Dinnen's office to get a prescription. Not finding the doctor in, she went to Dr. McCullough's, where she procured the medical advice. She started homeward and had gone as far as the above mentioned place when she succumbed. Heart disease is supposed to have been the cause of her death. The deceased was about twenty-eight years of age. The funeral was held this afternoon.

THE WEEK'S DEAD.

The following is the list of deaths as reported by the city undertakers for the week ending Saturday, July 24th:

Oscar Ott, 1 year old, summer complaint.

Maude Zuber, 8 years old, diphtheria.

Clarence Aubrey, 7 days old, exhaustion.

Mabel Braun, 16 years old, consumption.

Alice Pollock, 36 years old, tumor.

Caroline Hensel, 60 years old, consumption.

Gottlieb Epple, 59 years old, inflammation of stomach.

Gottlieb Hensel, 24 years old, inflammatory rheumatism.

Lida A. Morrison, 43 years old, disease of stomach.

Fred Boltz, 22 years old, leucocythaemia.

Otto Nichols, 29 years old, laudanum poisoning.

William Hilgemann, 64 years old, drowned.

NOT SO BRIGHT.

R. Klein Talks About the Present Gold Craze.

Spent Five Years in Alaska Where He Suffered Many Hardships—Advises People to go slow.

Just at this time, when the Alaska gold fever is sweeping over the land, it is a matter of some moment that Fort Wayne has in her midst a man who spent five long years of his life in that desolate, yet rich, country. This man is R. Klein, the furrier, who conducts a business on East Washington street. Although nearly a quarter of a century has passed since he was in that territory, the same hardships present themselves now as then. It was in 1873 when Mr. Klein was employed as Alaskan agent for the San Francisco Commercial Fur company. He was compelled to visit the islands along the southern coast and went as far north as Nunivak. This is below the Yukon river, where the present rush is being made, but although further south than the Yukon region it was so cold and desolate that, as Mr. Klein expresses it, "winter in Siberia is like a summer day as compared with it." Mr. Klein says that while in search of furs he risked his life many times. "People who are rushing to the Klondyke country at this season of the year are foolhardy," said Mr. Klein, "and if they knew as much as I do about the great glacial portions of Alaska they would stay at home. Winter in all its severity settles down in that region in September and many of the men who are making this mad rush will die of hunger and cold. Possibly one in every hundred will make a good gold strike."

BOLD HORSE THIEF

Gets Away With Max Hoffmann's Horse and Buggy.

The Job Was Done at Hartford City—Ida Miles, a Female Vagrant—Other Happenings in Police Circles.

Yesterday G. Max Hoffmann, superintendent of the Fort Wayne Gas company, went out to the gas field and drove from there to Hartford City. He left his horse standing in front of the hotel, and while he was eating supper somebody stole his rig. Mr. Hoffman this morning gave an accurate description of the horse and vehicle to Superintendent Gorsline and Sheriff Melching, who will make every possible effort to recover the property. The outfit is valued highly by the owner.

NOTES.

Ida Miles, a female vagrant arrested by Officer Murphy, was sent to jail for fifteen days. Ida belongs to Toledo.

George Myers got fifteen days for vagrancy. He was arrested last night by Officer Pappert.

Charley Retine, arrested by Detective Coling on Clinton street, was sent over for eleven days. Retine had been having a fuss with his wife, it is charged.

Thomas Hazlett and Frank Smith were having a spree in the alley back of the Journal building yesterday when Detective Coling came along and took them in. They each went over for eleven days. Smith's right name is John Carl and he is wanted at New Haven. He has been in trouble before.

IS IT INFANTICIDE?

Suspicious Death of a Child of Mr. and Mrs. Hood.

Body Exhumed This Morning and the Coroner is Making a Thorough Investigation.

Sheriff Melching, Humane Officer Schlaudroff and the city officers are investigating a supposed case of infanticide which may develop into a sensation and the arrest of a father and mother. Last Tuesday a little baby was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Hood, of 120 West Third street. Wednesday evening the little one died and neighbors asserted that there was something wrong. Complaint was made to the officers and Sheriff Melching, Humane Officer Schlaudroff and Detective Coling began an investigation. They went to the Hood home and found the mother sick in bed. John Hood, the father, met them and when the officers broached their suspicions to him he replied, "Oh, that's nothing, the child was dead when born." The officers claim that they have evidence that it lived at least twenty-four hours. They learned that it had been placed in an old box, supposed to be a bologna box, a peach basket placed over it and then buried in a wood shed. This was on Wednesday and no clothing was on the infant. Thursday morning the child was taken up, some clothing put on it and it was again buried, this time in a hen coop. Thursday night when the officers were at the Hood home, the father became abusive and blasphemous and many assertions were made which would not look well in print. The claim was made by Mr. Hood's mother that a physician who was called said the child would not live because God had allotted only a certain number of children to women and Mrs. John Hood was the mother of too many. The officers assert that this is the third time suspicious deaths of children have occurred in the Hood family and they have sensational evidence to introduce as to propositions made to doctors. Friday and Saturday nothing was done in the matter, but this morning Coroner Kangel was notified and he, along with Deputy Sheriff Gladieux, went to the Hoods and for the third time the child was exhumed and is now at Peltier's morgue, where an inquest is being held. The little one seems to be fully developed, wears long finger nails and has short black hair. No arrests have been made, but the complaint of neighbors was so frequent that the officers decided upon a thorough investigation. John Hood is a fireman on the Nickel Plate.

WISE PRECAUTION

Prevents a Spread of Diphtheria on the South Side.

Special Sanitary Policeman Detailed by the County Health Board to Enforce Quarantine.

Dr. Proegler, of the county board of health, has done a commendable thing by enforcing a strict quarantine in the brick yard settlement on the Piqua road, where diphtheria recently made its appearance in two families. A case was reported in the Kreckenberger family, and two cases appeared in the Zuber family about the same time. One of the Zuber children died, and then it became apparent that unless something was done to prevent the mingling of families in the brick yard district, there would be an epidemic. Dr. Proegler, realizing the importance of the situation, appointed Samuel Brokaw a special sanitary policeman to remain on the spot and enforce the proper precautions against the spread of the disease.

When the mercury in the thermometer is down to seventy degrees below zero next winter what will it profit a man to be sleeping on nuggets of refined gold if he is short of fuel and food.

F. W. Ayer, of Bangor, Maine, has a collection of postage stamps which ranks third in the world. He recently returned from London, where he was lionized by the philatelists (including the duke of York), and it is reported that he sold a single stamp of the Hawaiian issue of 1851 for nearly $2,500.

It is said that John R. McLean, of the Cincinnati Enquirer, has withdrawn from the race for the United States senatorship from Ohio on account of the bitter opposition to him from various places. He will spend the summer on the sea coast of Maine. The other democratic candidates place but little reliance in the report.

According to the wheat experts the European crop will be short fully 100,000,000 bushels, while neither India nor Argentine is expected to furnish any of account, while Australia, usually having a surplus for export, will this year, at least, be forced to import somewhat. This, in fact, is the only wheat country which will this year have an average crop. Prices are therefore, expected to rule higher.

A Mother's Prayer.

A correspondent has written this testimony: "Many a night, as I remember lying quietly in the little upper chamber before sleep came on, there would be a gentle footstep on the stair, the door would be softly opened, and in a moment the well known form, softly gliding through the darkness, would appear at my bedside. First there would be a few pleasant inquiries of affection, which gradually deepened into words of counsel. Then kneeling, her head close to mine, her most earnest hopes and desires would flow forth in prayer. How largely a mother can wish for her boy! Her tears keep for the earnestness of her desire. I seem to feel them yet where sometimes they fell upon my face. Kissing, with a good night kiss, she was gone. The prayers often passed out of thought in slumber, and came not to mind again for years, but they were not lost. They were safely kept in some secret place of memory, for they reappear with a beauty brighter than ever. I willingly believe that they were an invisible bond with Heaven that secretly preserved me while I moved carelessly amid numberless temptations and walked the brink of crime."—London Echo.

Man's Past and Future.

Well enough to study entomology and geology and astronomy, but after all the proper study of mankind is man. We are warned not to think of ourselves more highly than we ought to think, but we ought to be careful to think highly enough that we may not still further degrade a nature which though sadly marred by sin still towers colossal as the noblest work of God. And nothing is better adapted to uplift our struggling thoughts than a survey of the then and now and the now and then of human history. Looking back along the track that humanity has traveled, we discover among the earliest "vestigia" of man's presence on earth unmistakable evidence of his low-down condition. When he fell from the high place God had given him as his vicegerent on earth, he fell very far and very deep. And then began the true ascent of man. Marvelous progress has been made, but never so great as in these latter years. And yet never was he so restless and dissatisfied as he is today. But if men were put back into the "good old times" then, perhaps they would be ready to cease their croaking and properly appreciate an age which has brought the richest blessings that the world has ever seen. Of course, in the onward sweep of the mighty river there are occasional eddies and regurgitating waters, but the river stays not nor flows backward to its source. There are those who love darkness rather than light, and the darkness that they covet shall cover them eternally. But for those who welcome the truth and fall into line with God's wise and loving purpose in providence and grace there looms up a destiny far reaching as eternity and glorious as the heights of Heaven. Looking backward there is a mighty difference between man's then and now, but, looking forward, beyond this brief life and little world, oh, what a difference between man's now and then.

AN INDIANA MAN

Perfects a New System of Fuel for War Vessels.

An Ordinary Sized War Vessel Can Carry Enough Fuel to Last on a Trip Around the World.

Anderson, Ind., July 26.—Judge M. A. Chapman has gone to Washington to file patent applications and interest the government officials in inventions by Frank M. Reed, of this city, which have been completed, tested practically and found to be capable of revolutionizing the handling of war vessels at sea. The inventions carry out to perfection the idea originated by Russia in using oil instead of coal as a fuel for war vessels. Reed's invention covers a system of oil burning which will make it possible for a vessel like the Indiana to carry enough fuel to last on a trip around the world. The system is gas generating from oil. The gas is generated by an atomizing plan, is smokeless and capable of a tenth more heat than the Russians get, or 33 per cent. more heat than the government is now getting from coal, making it possible to work up to great speed. Instead of thirty stokers, which are now necessary on a great war vessel, one man can handle all of the valves. Another one of the inventions covers a storage tank that is absolutely bullet and shell proof. The cost of the equipment is very small and would be paid for in a month or so in the saving of fuel.

STAR POINTER

Wins the Free for all Pace in Straight Heats.

Chicago, July 26.—Saturday was a good day, and a good crowd, good racing, and good time—though not fast enough to make any one giddy, is what came the way of those who went to the Washington park horse races.

Robert J.'s mile in 2:05½ was perhaps all that would be expected of him. He stepped the quarter in 29¾, the half in 1:01, the three-quarters in 1:33, the mile in 2:05½.

John R. Gentry went in 2:05½, and allowed Johnson's record to beat him.

Marion Mills, the guideless wonder, did herself credit. Pretty as a picture, and adorned from mane to tail, she acted beautifully, and paced like the really great mare she is, but 2:11¼ was the best she could show, and though lots of sympathy was showered on her, the pretty mare could not beat her record.

2:11 Pacing Class—Sherman Clay, first; Wentworth, second; Tuty Walkes, third. Ithuriel, Babette, Kansas, Nellie M., Hubert Walkes, and Dick also started. Time—2:09, 2:09, 2:10½.

THE FREE-FOR-ALL PACE.

It was here that the racing came in, and it was here that there was the sport of kings. Chicago has seen enthusiasm, but never such enthusiasm as when the black horse and the big bay locked necks together down the stretch. It was a race for blood, and those who saw it can feel the blood tingling in their veins now. Here is the cold blooded epitome of the race:

Free-for-all Pace, Purse for $5,000—Star Pointer, 1, 1, 1; Joe Patchen, 2, 2, 2; Frank Agan, 3, 3, 3. Time—2:03, 2:03, 2:03½.

First Heat—It was a perfect start, both horses going away on even terms. Frank Agan was out of it. The big black and the bay raced like a team to the half-mile post, where the bay began to draw ahead. He kept his advantage all the way down the stretch, and eventually won by a length.

Second Heat—The bay horse took the lead at the start, held it to the end and won as he pleased.

Third Heat—The black horse pressed the bay a little, but the latter had always the foot of him and won easily.

HER PICKED UP DINNERS.

A Unique Testimonial to the Grace of a Faithful Wife.

"Speaking of queer epitaphs," said the raconteur of The Smokers' club, "reminds me of a trip I took to the Ozark mountains with a party of friends. It was late in September when we found ourselves at Eureka Springs, Ark., that pretty little resort which lies between the east and west mountains in what may be called one of the loveliest valleys in the country. We went on an excursion every day, and one morning started out on horseback to visit the Four Mile cave, famous for its stalactites. After going a couple of miles one of our horses cast a shoe. The delay occurred near a little cemetery, below which ran the White river. It was such a wild, picturesque spot that I stayed there while my friends hunted up a blacksmith, and I did not find it altogether lonely, as other visitors were moving about in the distance and the old caretaker of the graves was within hailing. I passed the time waiting in reading the headstones on some rather pretentious mounds, and in this way came to an exceedingly odd and incongruous epitaph, which I transferred to paper with a rude copy of the design. How is this for a eulogy on a partner?

MY WIFE
MARTHA
Her Picked Up Dinners
Were a Perfect Success.

"It was so jolly after the dreadful and untruthful literature of the other monuments that I must have showed my amusement in my face, for the old sexton drew near and said:

"'Howdy! S'pose yer readin wot's on that thar stun?'

"'Why, yes,' I said. 'Did you know the woman?'

"'Did I know Marthy? Why, Lor bless yer, everybody knew Marthy—least that warn't her name till she was dead. Her name was Molly Jones, but them huntin fellers allus called her Marthy 'cause they said it were Scripter. S'pose yer don't hunt much? This be a great place for thet, this be.'

"And just then I heard the mellow call of a hunter's horn along the river bank below, answered by the cry of a pack of hounds. The old man pricked up his ears.

"'Thar, do yer hear thet? Thet be George Perry an his houn's. They be goin to hev a fox hunt, I reckon. See 'em? Thar they be right down thar. Yer see, it was George Perry's father that really paid for thet stun.'

"'Who was this Martha?' I asked.

"'Waal, she useter be the head cook at the ole Perry House afore she married Bill Jones. Arter she got spliced they moved back inter the mountings an kept a kind of a tavern thar thet the hunters useter stop at when they went out on trips. Ef they fetched suthing, Molly useter cook it for 'em, an ef they didn't they hed to eat one of her picked up dinners. But, Lor bless yer, thet warn't no chore! She cud make most everything taste good, an ole Kurnel Perry useter say thet his big tavern couldn't set no spread equal to Molly's picked up dinners.'

"'Who raised this stone to her memory?'

"'I'm comin to thet, stranger. When Molly hed to die, lots of folks felt party bad, an Kurnel he up an says he'd stan the 'spense of a moonyment to what he called her crownin virtue. He said thar warn't no great Scripter about it, but 'twas jest the gospel of her daily livin, an ef Bill Jones didn't objeck they'd let it stan for wot it was wuth. An he put Marthy on as more fittin her name for allus makin folks comfortable, an ef thet isn't savin grace I'd like to know.'

"'So would I.' And, wringing the old man's hand, I joined my friends, thinking of that other Martha cumbered with much serving and wondering if, after all, the spirit that makes folks comfortable isn't another name for saving grace, as the old sexton suggested."—Chicago Times Herald.

Take Their Sorrows Cheerfully.

The following appeared in an appeal in The Church Times on behalf of a proposed mortuary chapel in the east end:

"On the south side of the church we have a spare piece of ground where we propose to build a light, cheerful mortuary chapel large enough to contain three or four coffins at the same time."

A committee of the West Bromwich town council rewarded the cemetery superintendent for his long service by granting him a plot of ground in the corporation cemetery for his own private use.—London Truth.

"I DID NOT STOP TO THINK."

It only was one careless word,
And spoken with no ill intent.
The moment that its sound I heard
I had occasion to lament.

'Twas some time I could not recall
[illegible] all aflame;
It turned a kindly heart to gall
And [illegible] from simple shame.

It changed a current of a life,
It turned me back from fortune's brink—
That little word with portent rife—
Because "I did not stop to think."

I thought of judgment he had lack,
And spoke [illegible] out of school.
Before the word I could take back,
He said, "You think I am a fool."

"Think twice before you speak." Ah, true
I knew the adage well, and yet
[illegible]
That one or stop a vain regret.

AN OPEN LETTER

From Miss Sachner, of Columbus, O., to Ailing Women.

To all women who are ill:—It affords me great pleasure to tell you of the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for the boon given to suffering women in that excellent remedy. Before taking the Compound I was thin, sallow and nervous. I was troubled with leucorrhoea, and my menstrual periods were very irregular. I tried three physicians and gradually grew worse. About a year ago I was advised by a friend to try Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and Vegetable Compound, which I did. After using three bottles of the Vegetable Compound and one package of Sanative Wash, I am now enjoying better health than I ever did, and attribute the same to your wonderful remedies. I cannot find words to express what a Godsend they have been to me.

Whenever I begin to feel nervous and ill, I know I have a never failing physician at hand. It would afford me pleasure to know that my words had directed some suffering sister to health and strength through those most excellent remedies. Miss May Sachner, 145½ E. Rich St., Columbus, O.

ONE OF THE SHOP'S RULES.

A Glazier's Trick That Proved Futile in the Long Run.

A small boy had thrown a stone through the basement window, and the landlady sent the maid of all work around the corner to a glazier's. There was only one corner of the sheet of glass broken, but it would have been unsafe to leave it.

"It will be $2," the glazier said, looking the job over, and after a little wrangling over the price the landlady told him to go ahead.

When he was gone for the glass, the landlady said to the girl:

"You see, I can get a glass for that picture in the dining room out of this and will be just that much ahead."

There was a good deal of "cluttering up" about the work, but it was done finally, the glazier was paid and went. Ten minutes later the landlady went out to look at the piece of glass that was left, but it was gone.

"He took it with him," the girl said.

"Well, go right over there and bring it back," she said tartly. "You knew I wanted the glass."

The girl was gone five minutes, and she returned without it.

"He won't give it up. He says according to the rules of the shop that it belongs to him."

"The rules of the shop indeed! I'll show him," and she put on her bonnet with a little toss which looked bad for the glazier.

But he stood his ground unexpectedly. There was the glass on the counter, but he stood close over it, protesting:

"It vhas der rules of der shop."

"Well, you'll see when my husband comes home," she said at last, backing out of the door, but the glazier only smiled.

Sure enough, the husband was bent on having the glass.

"Come over and point it out to me, and I'll fix him," he said doggedly.

The glazier saw them coming, but he was defiant.

"See here," began the husband, "you've stolen a piece of window glass out of my house"—

"No, no. It vhas der rules of der"—

"Hang the rules! Where is the glass?" turning to his wife. She pointed to it lying under a workbench. The husband reached for it and started out of the shop.

In an instant the proprietor was on the sidewalk, dancing on one leg, waving his arms and shouting:

"Police, police!"

Rather than face the trouble the man laid the glass down, and the two left the shop, walking briskly till they turned a corner.

"But just wait!" muttered the little woman.

Two days later there was a ring at the bell which the landlady answered. A boy in a tradesman's blouse was hesitating in the door.

"Mr. Glazenstein wants the hammer he left here the other day."

"Oh, no," chuckled the landlady; "it's the rules of the shop that I never give hammers back when they are left here."

The boy looked abashed.

"I'll tell you," said the landlady. "You go back and say that when he returns my glass we'll talk about the hammer."

The boy went, and in a few minutes he came back with the glass.

"That's more like it," said the landlady, taking the pane from him. "Now go back and tell that old skinflint that I haven't seen his old hammer."

And she hadn't, for a little later she saw the boy come out of a house on the opposite side of the street carrying the missing article.

But the glass is now in a picture frame in her dining room wall.—Chicago Tribune.

THE TOOLS THEY USED.

The Simple Means by Which Great Things Have Been Done.

Dr. William H. Wollaston rendered many services to science. He was the first to detect the Fraunhofer lines in the solar spectrum and to demonstrate the identity of galvanism and frictional electricity.

One day a visitor from a foreign country called upon the doctor and asked to be shown the laboratory where so many valuable discoveries had been made. The doctor conducted his visitor to a small room in which there was no furniture except a table. On the table was an old tea tray containing a small balance, a blowpipe, some test papers and a few watch glasses.

"This room," said Dr. Wollaston, "is my laboratory, and on that tea tray are all of my work tools."

Everybody knows that Benjamin Franklin, the eminent American statesman and philosopher, robbed the thundercloud of its lightning by means of a kite and a silk handkerchief.

A celebrated English engraver, Thomas Bewick, drew his first sketches with common chalk upon the walls of the little cottage in which he lived. The far famed chemist Julius Stockhardt learned the art of combining colors by closely studying the wings of many butterflies.

Dr. Joseph Black, a chemist of note, discovered latent heat by using as tools a pan of water and two thermometers. Sir David Wilkie, the renowned painter, for his first work made use of a barn door and a charred stick for want of canvas and pencil.

John Opie was called "the Cornish wonder" because of his great skill in portraiture. He was asked one day by what wonderful process he mixed his colors.

"I mix them with my brains," answered the painter.

Benjamin West, a well known American painter, manufactured his first brush out of a cat's tail. Sir Isaac Newton unfolded the composition of light and the origin of color by means of a sheet of pasteboard, a prism and a lens. Out of an anatomist's syringe, which by accident came into his possession, Watt, the great British engineer and mechanical inventor, constructed his first model of the condensing steam engine.

Demosthenes resolved to become an orator, and in order to carry out his resolve it was necessary for him to overcome some serious obstacles. His manners were awkward, his breath short and his voice stammering and indistinct. He did not attend a school of oratory, nor did he have a private tutor, but we are told that he first shaved one side of his head only, so as to make it impossible for him to go into society, and thus divert himself from his purpose. Then, to overcome the defect in his speech, he adopted the practice of speaking with pebbles in his mouth, and that he might be able to make himself heard in the tumult of popular assemblies he declaimed hour after hour upon the seashore. To observe and correct his awkward gestures he spent much time practicing before a mirror. Thus, by patience and perseverance, he became the greatest orator of antiquity.

Bernard Palissy, the French potter, chemist and enameler, had but little indeed to work with when making his first experiments, but in spite of poverty, religious persecution and many other impediments he pursued with untiring energy the art of pottery, glass painting and enameling and became one of the first artists of the French renaissance.

To these names scores of others might be added of persons that have climbed high on the ladder of fame by making a right use of whatever tools or means were within their reach, by a healthful, praiseworthy desire to excel and by "keeping everlastingly at it."—Philadelphia Times.

A Cause of Epilepsy.

A number of physicians have for some time been studying eye troubles as a cause of epilepsy. It would seem that the relation between cause and effect is so perfect that not a doubt remains that children are not only physically but mentally unbalanced by lack of attention to the eyes. The proportion of defective eyes in children is surprising. More than half of the school children of the country have more or less trouble of this nature. A case which presented many very peculiar symptoms was noted. A youth had epileptic attacks and was put in charge of various specialists, who finally decided that the boy must have received an injury to his skull and was suffering from depression. He had always complained of headaches, and his family were and had been for many years victims to most depressing attacks of this nature. A critical examination failed to show anything wrong with the skull. It was at length decided to test the patient's eyes. The result of this was a prescription for glasses, which at once removed the convulsions and restored him to health. This occurred some years ago, and there has been no return whatever of the trouble. A young girl had suffered with epileptic convulsions until her mind was seriously affected. Glasses constantly worn gave immediate relief, and up to date there have been no more convulsions.—New York Ledger.

A Final Capitulation.

"Pete," said Meandering Mike, "I've held out ag'in advocatin an active labor market as long as I kin. Dere's no use o' talkin, we wants prosperity, an we wants it quick."

"Wot's de matter wid yer?" inquired Plodding Pete. "Is de scarcity of work worryin you?"

"Yep. I'm afraid dat if it increases some o' de people we depends on for handouts'll be out of a job."—Washington Star.

THE LOUPCERVIER.

Savage and Active, It Is the Terror of Smaller Animals.

"If the loupcervier, or Canadian lynx, were heavy and strong in proportion to his ferocity and savage appearance, he would be a bad customer for man or dog to tackle," said the man from Maine. "As it is, it takes a sturdy hound to whip one of them if he gets him cornered, which is a hard thing to do. As a point of fact the loupcervier is a 'bluffer.' He keeps himself pretty well in the back woods away from the abodes of men, but when the hunter or lumberman comes upon a loupcervier the beast is by no means likely to run away. Though slight of build the loupcervier is long legged, and when he faces a man, his eyes glaring yellow, his gray fur sticking out in all directions, his tasseled ears upright, with the ugly grin that shows his long teeth, he isn't the sort of creature that one would like to take up and fondle. If the man approach him, he will spit and treat as if about to put up a great fight, and it is only at the last moment that he will give ground and leap away. Even then he goes no farther than he has to, sometimes darting up a tree or to the top of a high rock, where, ensconced on the defensive, the temptation is not great to follow him. In that case, if the man have a gun, of course the affair is quickly settled, but otherwise the loupcervier usually holds the fort.

"To the smaller animals on which he preys the loupcervier is a terror. He is quicker than chain lightning greased and is all over the woods at once. On the ground he skirmishes for rabbits and grouse, and in the trees he captures birds and squirrels, and, more frequently, the young in their nests. He is a deadly enemy to fawns left in hiding by their mothers when they go away to browse for a dinner. Sometimes, when pressed by hunger, he will attack a doe, dropping on her back from the limb of a tree beneath which she passes, but the results of the experiment do not always encourage him to repeat it, for it implies an experience in bareback riding that knocks bronchobreaking into the shade. But in winter, when the crust formed on the deep snow will bear up the loupcervier, he, banded with several of his kind, will successfully hunt the deer, which wallow hampered in the snow. William Oakes, a land surveyor in Maine, once came upon a deer which had been pursued and killed by three loupcerviers. They had driven the animal into the top of a fallen tree, where, entangled among the branches, it was an easy victim.

"The loupcervier, as I have already implied, is not a cautious animal, and he is less difficult to trap than most other animals of the feline kind. Fast in a trap, he will put up his back and spit and hiss at the approach of his captor, but he is easily killed with the blow of a club on the head. He is not so tenacious of life as the wildcat, and a resolute dog that is game to face his teeth and claws for the first brief round will make short work of him. But for any dog not a thoroughbred the first round is all sufficient, his sole concern thereafter being a convenient line of retreat.

"A man firing at a loupcervier in a tree wants to stand well away, for if he venture within reach of his spring, with the report of his gun he may find the creature landed upon him, clawing at his face, and even if he wins he will be apt to carry souvenirs of the encounter in the shape of bites and scratches for many a day.

"With all their savage pugnacity, loupcerviers are sociable, playful creatures among themselves and often have been observed on moonlight nights in open spaces of the forest or on the ice of lakes, frolicking in groups, like kittens."—New York Sun.

Novel Reading.

The late Mr. Boyesen, in The Forum, speaking of excess of novel reading, says: "Who that has read Rousseau's 'Confessions' will fail to remember the emphatic avowal that he was unfitted for life by the reading of novels? Like the opium habit, the craving for fiction grew upon him, until the fundamental part of him had suffered irreparable harm. He is not the only one who has experienced detrimental effects from dwelling too long in the pleasant land of romance. As soon as a man—and particularly a child—gets acclimated there he is likely to become of very small account, as far as reality is concerned. He becomes less and less able to apply sound standards of judgment to the things of this world, and as the success in life for which we are striving depends primarily upon this ability to see things straight and to judge them clearly no one can escape the conclusion that a large consumption of romantic fiction tends directly to disqualify a man for worldly success."

BARRED MLLE. MARSY.

Her Horse Won the Grand Prix, but President Faure Wouldn't Receive Her.

The president of the French republic has been compelled to omit this year the customary audience and invitation to luncheon in the case of the owner of the horse winning the Grand Steeple Chase at Auteuil, for the owner is Mlle. Marsy, the actress, who played a peculiar role in connection with the events that preceded and followed the death of the young multimillionaire Max Lebaudy, popularly known by the nickname of "Little Sugar Bowl."

Mlle. Marsy was one of the principal people called upon for explanations and for evidence in the criminal proceedings for blackmail after the death of Lebaudy, whose relations with her were made a subject of glorification rather than of concealment. She benefited largely by his purse before his death, his claims to his property after his death being settled by his family through a compromise. The racing stable also now owes much to her from Lebaudy.

President Faure naturally felt that to accord to her the recognition usually accorded to winners of the great national race would be equivalent to a sanction of antecedents, especially her relationship with young Lebaudy. That is why he contented himself with sending an officer of his household to the actress' house to congratulate her on her victory.

She is one of several actresses and titled ladies who own racing stables, among them being Mrs. Langtry, Countess Tiparte, once queen of Naples, the Viennese Baroness Hansvart and the Princess Montenuovo, the latter sharing with Mlle. Marsy the distinction of being the only members of the fair sex to carry off one of what are known as the blue ribbons of the European turf, the princess having won the Vienna Derby, her husband's horse being among those defeated.

The only winner who had been slighted previous to this year was Edmond Blanc, who won the Grand Prix twice. This slight was because M. Blanc not only is one of the three owners of the great gambling place at Monte Carlo, but has an unenviable turf record, repeated attempts having been made to lynch him on the course for having "pulled" his horses.

Preparing For It.

"I thought you were going on the stage," he said.

"I am," she replied.

"Well, most society women who have aspirations that way don't take so long about it."

"Well, the fact is that I haven't succeeded in arranging for a satisfactory scandal yet."—Chicago Post.

The Pittsburg Vernacular.

"Your daughter seemed a little shy this morning," said the old friend of the family to his Pittsburg host.

"Shy?" echoed the proud parent. "You must be mistaken. Maud can't be shy. She won $7 from me on a queen full last night."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Catarrh

Mrs. Josephine Polhill, of Due West, S. C., had a severe case of catarrh, which finally became so deep-seated that she was entirely deaf in one ear, and part of the bone in her nose sloughed off. The best physicians treated her in vain, and she used various applications of sprays and washes to no avail. Fourteen bottles of S. S. S. promptly reached the seat of the disease, and cured her sound and well.

A Handsome Complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess. Pozzoni's Complexion Powder gives it.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Trouble, Acid Dyspepsia or Sour Stomach.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to promptly digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition becomes chronic and being an every day occurrence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal many people do nothing for the trouble. Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is now becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the Stuart Chemical Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion, at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

MOLDER DEAD.

Edward Christke Expires From an Attack of Appendicitis.

Several of the Shopmen Meet With Mishaps—Excursion News, Covering Events Past and to Come.

Edward Christke, a molder at the Bass foundry, died of appendicitis at the St. Joseph's hospital last evening. Mr. Christke was removed to the hospital a few days ago for the purpose of having an operation performed, but the disease had advanced to a stage where surgery was of no avail. The deceased was born in Germany and was a little past twenty-four years of age. He was unmarried. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. from the residence of Edward Fleet, where the deceased boarded, and half an hour later from Grace Lutheran church.

BLACKSMITH HURT.

A. Rost, an employe of the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, received an ugly and painful wound in a most peculiar manner this morning. He was walking through the shop, when he met George Burchard, who was carrying a sharp lathe knife. In some manner the point of the implement struck the right forearm of Mr. Rost, laying the bone bare for over an inch. The wounded man had a bandage placed about the arm and then came down to Dr. George C. Stemen's office, where he had the cut stitched together.

A FINGER CRUSHED.

Otto Stahl, who is employed at the Bass blacksmith shop, had the index finger of his left hand badly injured this morning. He dropped a heavy iron upon it. Stahl, after the injured member was dressed by the shop clerk, who acts as surgeon in all minor accidents, tried to continue at work, but after an hour's trial had to quit on account of the pain caused by the wound.

RIGHT HAND INJURED.

Edward Coleman, a helper in the Wabash machine shop, will be off duty for some time, nursing a wounded hand. Saturday afternoon, while he was tightening a nut on the cross head of an engine, the wrench slipped off and Coleman's right hand came suddenly in contact with the sharpened edge of the cross head, cutting and bruising the flesh badly.

A FAST RUN.

The Pennsylvania limited traveled from this city to Chicago, 148 miles, in two hours and fifty nine minutes this morning. There was a detention of twelve minutes at Plymouth on account of a hot box, making the actual running time 167 minutes. A week ago the same train made the run to Chicago in two hours and fifty-two minutes, including all stops. In both of these instances Oliver Herbert was the engineer.

THE LAKE ERIE'S EXCURSION.

Yesterday the Lake Erie and Western company ran an excursion from this city to Indianapolis and Cincinnati, which proved a success both in a social and financial sense. There were 175 passengers for Indianapolis and twenty-two for Cincinnati out of this city, and each city along the line of railroad contributed liberally to the party, making quite a big crowd as the train neared its destination. Next Sunday the company will repeat the excursion to Indianapolis, making the same price, $1.

ELECTRIC EMPLOYES' EXCURSION.

The annual outing of the relief department of the Electric works last Saturday afternoon was one of the most interesting of the several similar events at Robison park this season. It also proved a financial success, the crowd being variously estimated from 2,000 to 3,000. The athletic contests of course were the chief entertaining features of the afternoon. Following is a list of them, as well as of the participants who were so fortunate as to win prizes:

Shooting Clay Pigeons, American Rules, (1¼ ounces shot allowed)—First prize, Rapid loader, W. Durfee; second prize, loaded shells, C. S. Knothe; third prize, gun cleaning outfit, M. Wittegreuter.

100 Yards Dash, Open—First prize, bicycle lantern, W. Sheppard; second prize, sweater, Jim Willson.

Putting 12 Pound Shot—First prize, silk umbrella, W. Sheppard; second prize, cyclometer, H. W. Smith.

100 Yard Dash (for heavy weights over 180 pounds, and for men over forty years old)—First prize, linen suit, Rev. Ainslie; second prize, one dozen collars, M. S. Willson.

100 Yards Dash (for boys sixteen years and under)—First prize, sweater, George Knell; second prize, jacket knife, Jim Willson.

Throwing 12 Pound Hammer—First prize, bicycle shoes, W. Sheppard; second prize, wooden handle fan, Phil Hess.

Three Legged Race, 100 Yards—First prize, two fine shirts, W. Meyer and G. F. Harter; second prize, one dozen hose, J. Willson and Conroy.

Relief Association Tandem, 50 Yards Dash, Back Rider to be Eyes for Blindfolded Runner—First prize, one dozen linen handkerchiefs, Patton and F. Robins; second prize, two neckties, W. Brennen and Pat Morris.

Half mile Relay Race, for Teams From Different Departments of the Fort Wayne Electric Corporation; Four Men per Team—Four first prizes, four pairs cuff buttons, W. Sheppard, Phil Hess, Jackson, Engeman.

Half mile Boat Race, Single—First prize, silk umbrella, W. J. Tanner; second prize, box cigars, W. H. Miller.

Swimming Race—First prize, fishing tackle and reel, W. Sheppard; second prize, barber's ticket, C. Miller.

Half mile Boat Race, Double—First prize, one box cigars, W. J. Tanner and W. H. Miller; second prize, one dozen hose, A. H. Bradley and John Moring.

Supt. C. D. Law is at Pittsburg today, attending a railway meeting.

The Wabash had 105 passengers for Toledo out of this city yesterday.

Fred Lentz, the springmaker at the Pittsburg shops, is on the sick list.

H. Hoglund, of the Pittsburg lumber yards, is off duty on account of sickness.

Class X engine No. 278 was taken into the Pittsburg shops for repairs this morning.

J. D. Barnes, superintendent of motive power of the Wabash, spent Sunday in the city.

Machinist C. A. Auster, of the electric works, is taking a vacation of a week or two.

J. T. Hanrahan, vice president of the Illinois Central, has returned from his European trip.

E. K. Woodward, of Peru, Ind., resident engineer of the Wabash, was in the city this morning.

Claude Kepinger this morning assumed the duties of clerk in the paint department of the east shops.

Thomas Walsh, a veteran in the shop service of the Pittsburg, has returned to work after a few days' illness.

The net earnings of the Lake Erie and Western for May shows a decrease, as compared with May, 1896, of $10,271.

Hon. J. H. Bass was called to Cleveland, Ohio, this morning on business connected with the Bass Foundry and Machine works.

Plans are being prepared by the Baltimore and Ohio engineering department for a new passenger station at Cleveland to cost $100,000.

Passenger Conductor Camp, running on the Pennsylvania line between Louisville and Chicago, has been notified that his services are no longer needed.

Tomorrow Tom Hibbins and his gang of slate roofers will commence the work of putting a new roof upon the Pennsylvania transfer house at Eighteenth street, Chicago.

The Pennsylvania tracks were raised six inches at the Fairfield avenue crossing this morning. The track raisers will reach Broadway the latter part of the week.

The Lake Erie and Western brought in a number of excursionists from Connersville and intermediate points yesterday. Most of the visitors spent the day at Robison park.

The employes of the Columbus and Hocking Valley will hold a picnic at Buckeye park Saturday, July 31. Superintendent Conners has given instructions that employes and their families be carried to the picnic grounds free.

Ben Armack spent Sunday with his Fort Wayne friends. He is now chief engineer at the Pennsylvania's new passenger station at Columbus, Ohio, a position he is eminently fitted for. Mr. Armack states that himself and family like their new home very much.

W. H. Adams and his sister, Mrs. H. W. Cook, of Grand Rapids, are visiting Mrs. A. M. Lindsey, of 41 West Williams street. They are on route home from the funeral of their brother, Brakeman Adams, who was killed on the Grand Rapids road at Vicksburg, Mich.

The city council of Logansport has granted the Panhandle the privilege of crossing some of its streets, and the company will make extensive improvements to its yards. Trackage to accommodate the passenger as well as freight service will be provided.

Evidently the Wabash is going to be a strong competitor for Grand Army business from this territory. It has gotten out circular letters announcing a rail and water route, in connection with the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation company, which allows a day's stop over at Put-in Bay.

Railway managers are somewhat puzzled to know what they will do when the miners' strike is over, as the shipments of coal will be so heavy as to make it difficult to handle it readily and move the crops and miscellaneous freights which have to be handled in the next few weeks.

T. H. Lee, for many years general roadmaster of the Rio Grande Western, was buried at Salt Lake on Thursday. An engine on which he was riding was derailed and he was caught in such a manner as to cut his body in two. Mr. Lee was at one time on the Wabash as division foreman of track.

The Wabash has definitely settled upon a date for its Detroit excursion and Col. C. G. Thompson is now engaged in preparing for the event. The excursion will take place next Sunday, the train leaving this city at [illegible] a. m. and returning at 11 p. m.

Charles Daley was killed and Philip Gemand was badly injured by a Nickel Plate train at Seventy-ninth street, Chicago, Saturday night. With a number of other men the unfortunates had been drinking and laid down on the tracks to sleep. Frank Chappel was at the throttle of the engine which struck the men.

Alexander Engle, who has been working at the electric works for some time, will return to his old occupation, that of railroading. He has secured the local conductorship on the Lima Northern road, and left today for Lima, where he will tomorrow assume the position. Before going to work at the electric works, Mr. Engle was a conductor on the Nickel Plate.

The Pennsylvania company will run two excursions to this city on Sunday, August 8. One will start from Plymouth and the other from Lima and the fare will be placed at a figure so low that it cannot help but result in an immense crowd from each direction. The excursionists, of course, will visit Robison park and for their entertainment the park managers will put forth an extra effort on that occasion.

A new method of telegraphing to and from moving railroad trains will this week be exhibited at Indianapolis. This system is the joint invention of Clarence D. Royse, of Greencastle, and Walter A. Royse, of Indianapolis. For two months they have been at work on an idea that has never heretofore been applied in this kind of work and have now completed it and are ready to offer it to the public. This system makes every train a telegraph office in direct communication at all times with all other trains on the road and with all telegraph stations.

TOO MUCH BLACK ART.

Inglorious End of Two Girls' Quest for Secrets of the Future.

There are two girls in Brooklyn who, if the subject of fortune telling should happen to be mentioned in their presence today, would exclaim with the sincerest emphasis, "Never again!" Their convictions on this point are deeply rooted in an experience of a week ago. At that time they determined to carry out what had been a long cherished project with them by visiting a "real" clairvoyant in his lair. So they looked over the advertisements in a morning paper until they discovered one which held out especially strong inducements in the way of reading "the past, present and future, reuniting the separated," and all the rest of it. The two set off to find the address of the noted man. This was not difficult, but it conducted the girls through a part of the city of which they had little knowledge and which certainly could not have been called attractive. Reaching the house, they ascended to the apartments of the "clairvoyant on the second floor" by a narrow, dirty and dark staircase. By the time they knocked at the door of the mysterious place their first fresh enthusiasm had been somewhat dampened, and when the seer himself opened to them they were ready to be convinced at once that he possessed a sinister and evil face.

After they had passed in, to their astonishment their host promptly locked the door behind them. The girls glanced at each other, but, noting that the key still remained in the lock, they controlled their anxiety for a moment. Worse was still to come. It appeared that this was merely an antechamber, and the clairvoyant led them directly through it to an inner room, the door of which he also locked in the same manner. Then he motioned them to seats, and the girls dropped into them, their eyes round with fear and a shaky, insecure feeling in their knees. The fortune teller dived into a dark closet and brought forth some strange looking boxes, which his visitors, in their excited frame of mind, decided were extremely dangerous things. The girl nearest the door moved uneasily in her chair and cast eyes of longing toward the lock. She was nerving herself for a desperate effort. Her chance came in a moment, when the clairvoyant, excusing himself politely, plunged into the depths of another dark pantry, presumably to hunt up more materials.

Leaning far over, without rising or making the slightest noise, she turned the key in the lock and exchanged one look of comprehension with her companion. On the instant both started to their feet, and, secrecy being no longer possible, they fairly hurled themselves through the doorway. An exclamation and sudden movement behind them did not serve to lessen their haste. With trembling fingers the girl who had made herself leader managed to unlock the second door, and in their precipitation the two had a narrow escape from falling headlong to the bottom of the stairs. Meanwhile the clairvoyant was panting after them shouting to them to return, but his words only terrified the fugitives still more.

Then the man who had read the past and from the appearance of things could make a pretty good guess at the future lost his temper and acted solely with reference to the present. Picking up a large doormat which lay at the head of the stairs, he hurled it down [illegible] his escaping clients. It was well aimed and struck the first girl squarely on the head and shoulders. If anything had been needed to complete their utter panic this act accomplished it. The horrified girls never drew breath until they were at least a block away in the open street. From there they dodged fearfully around several corners to baffle any pursuit which might be attempted. They reached their homes in a very different frame of mind from that in which they had started, and never—no, not if you were to offer them a fortune out of hand for it—will they dabble with the occult in that form again.—New York Tribune.

SHOOTING FLYING FISH.

A Novel Sport Carried on In Southern California Waters.

The visitor to the island of Santa Catalina or he who goes out on the launches from Long Beach or San Pedro is always entertained by the remarkable flights of flying fish, which in these waters attain a length of 18 inches and a weight of 2 pounds. Alarmed by the boat or steamer, they dash out of the water by a vigorous movement of the screwlike tail and dash away in headlong flight, skimming over the waves like birds, presenting so remarkable an appearance that the tourist who has never seen so extraordinary a performance takes them for birds. The flying fish is not flying, but it has four very winglike fins which serve it a similar purpose—that is, it hurls itself out of the water by the aid of its tail, and then, using the four winglike fins as parachutes, goes soaring away, covering a distance of an eighth of a mile. When the inertia fails, the tail of the fish drops, and the moment it strikes the water it begins a violent twisting, which sends the fish into the air again, and by repeating this the fish is enabled to cover the long distance. The wings or fins are not flapped, the only motion being a tremulousness imparted to them when the tail is twisted in the water. As the boat glides along these fish dart from the water and go soaring away on either side, and it is then that the sportsman, sitting in the bow, has an opportunity for some novel sport.

The fish move like some quail, very low, not more than two feet from the surface, and are not the easy shots one might imagine. They move rapidly and appear to rise and fall over the waves and go sweeping away in graceful curves. Sometimes four or five are in the air at the same time, and the good shot can bring them down to the right and left. All that is needed to carry out the idea of quail shooting would be to have a dog, but there is a sea dog that flushes this attractive game, the agile tuna. The flying fish is its legitimate prey, and big schools of tuna come sweeping in from the deep sea, driving the schools of flying fish before them, chasing them into the air six, eight and ten feet, giving marvelous exhibitions of lofty tumbling. At such times the flying fishes are crazed with terror and leave the water by scores and hundreds. They fly into boats, [illegible] upon the dry beaches, strike boatmen who happen to be in the way of their headlong flight and present a most attractive appearance to those who have never seen a flock of ocean flyers in the air with fish 6 or 7 feet long pursuing in a series of leaps or jumps. Sometimes the tuna chases the flier along just below the surface, catching it as it drops, a cloud of foam alone telling the story.—Santa Catalina.

Globe Lightning.

On July 7, 1892, a fireball entered a carpenter's cabin near Schleiden. The carpenter was sitting on the edge of a bed on which a child was sleeping. A ball of fire sprang suddenly and with a loud noise from the fireplace to the bed, which was immediately shattered. Then the ball rolled very slowly to the opposite wall of the room, through which, or the floor, it apparently vanished with another fearful crash without setting fire to anything. The man's wife and another child were sleeping in a second bed and the baby in a cradle, all in the same room, but none of the five persons was wounded or even stunned. All complained of headache and deafness on account of the heavy sulphurous vapor which filled the room, but they soon recovered. Some fractures were discovered about the stove and chimney.

Less fortunate were the children in a schoolhouse in [illegible], France, who were visited by a fireball while at their afternoon prayers. It was preceded by a shower of lime, wood and stones. The ball, which was small, rolled along under the bench, [illegible] three of the children [illegible] went out through a window pane, in which it merely made a round hole, whereas all the other panes were shattered.—M. [illegible] in Popular Science Monthly.

"Why, this [illegible] I couldn't have done it. I [illegible] everything [illegible]."

HIRONS' VEGETONE.

It can be Procured at Your Druggists.

The Hirons Double Treatment for Catarrh and Hay Fever.

The Hirons New Asthma and Cough Cure for Asthma, Bronchitis, Pneumonia, Coughs, Colds, Throat and Lung Troubles.

Vegetone is purely vegetable in its composition. It is a reliable and permanent cure for diseases of the liver and kidneys, constipation, chills, malarial fever, loss of appetite, and a sure and effectual cure for headache and dyspepsia.

Vegetone acts by giving tone to the stomach, strengthening the liver and kidneys, and assists those most important organs in throwing off the impurities in the blood. Every person, in the spring of the year, needs a good, safe tonic for the replenishing of the system after a winter of inactivity, and Vegetone will produce the desired effects, being purely vegetable and a mild, pleasant laxative, thus throwing off the bile from the stomach, producing new vigor.

CATARRH.

One of the most troublesome and dangerous diseases known to mankind, can in the large majority of cases, be permanently cured. Many who were victims to that disease have been cured, and many more are being cured. Double treatment for Catarrh does its work effectually, clearing it out of the head, driving it out of the blood, where it exists, and ever will exist, unless the health destroying virus is eradicated from the system. Cure it. For it is not only a constant discomfort, but a perpetual menace to life. Use the New Asthma and Cough Cure as the blood purifier, and the Speedy Catarrh Cure for the nasal treatment for Catarrh, and soon these troublesome and distressing symptoms will disappear. The constant dropping of the mucous into the throat, and the pain in the head will cease. The hearing, sight, smell, and taste will be restored.

HAY FEVER.

Hay Fever, or Hay Asthma as it is often called, is a combination of Bronchial and Nasal affections. The immediate cause and source of irritation being of external origin, attacking individuals during the months of May, June and August. The pollen of hay, dried grasses and rag weed comes in contact with the nasal and bronchial membranes, involving all the air passages, causing immediate irritation, frequently disabling persons afflicted therewith. The great discomfort and suffering, say nothing of the the loss of life caused by this terrible disease, may be avoided by using Hirons' Double Treatment, which is a sure, safe and permanent cure. Commence using the medicine at once, and get your system in condition to resist the effect of these agencies upon the mucous membrane, thereby keeping the tissues in a healthy condition.

"La Grippe Cough Cured."

Hirons Medicine Co., Room 3 Schmitz Block, Fort Wayne, Ind.

DEAR SIRS:—I had a severe case of La Grippe some time ago and suffered with a terrible cough until I tried a bottle of your New Asthma and Cough Cure. I used only one bottle of the medicine and it cured me entirely. I have had no cough since.

(Signed)
MRS. CHARLES C. ADAMS.

Believes It Saved Her Life.

The Hirons Medicine Co.

GENTLEMEN:—I wish to tell you how thankful we are for the great good your medicine has done for our daughter, Mrs. John Metcalf. We sincerely believe that it saved her life. In November she had a bad case of LaGrippe, it left her with an awful cough. Our family physician informed her husband that she was threatened with consumption. We knew not what course to pursue, until one day when Mrs. Metcalf was reading your advertisement in the WEEKLY SENTINEL, she resolved to try a bottle of your new Asthma and Cough Cure. After using the remedy for a short time she was able to sit up in bed. In two weeks she was up and around. Her cough ceased, and now she is entirely cured, and advises all who have lung or throat trouble to give your medicine a trial.

Yours Truly,
SAMUEL [illegible].

A Letter From the Well Known Architect, Alfred Grindle, 15 Clay Street.

Hirons Medicine Co.

GENTLEMEN:—During the spring of 1896 I was troubled with a very trying cough. The irritation I suffered caused me very much uneasiness. Hearing of your New Asthma and Cough Cure, I was prevailed upon to try it. I bought one bottle only, and after taking about one half of it, found myself entirely cured, much to my surprise. I may say that we have so much faith in your medicine that we keep it constantly on hand in case of emergency, and shall always take pleasure in explaining its valuable qualities to those of our friends who may suffer from coughs, colds or Bronchial trouble. Wishing you success, I am

Yours faithfully,
ALFRED GRINDLE.

What the Resident Manager of the Chicago Newspaper Union Has to Say.

The Hirons Medicine Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.

GENTLEMEN:—Your Mr. A. R. Hirons persuaded me to give your Double Treatment for catarrh a trial, and after having used it about 30 days, I can honestly say that the results have been very satisfactory. I have been a sufferer from the disease since childhood, and was so bad at times that the membrane would bleed constantly. By the use of your medicine I have stopped the bleeding, my head is greatly relieved, and I have no more difficulty with my breathing. Yours truly,

CHARLES D. TILLO.

A Hay-Fever Victim Made Happy.

The Hirons Medicine Co., Fort Wayne, Ind.

GENTLEMEN:—I have been afflicted with Hay Fever in its most malignant form for years. The first attack would appear in June. During August and September my sufferings were intense. Water would run from my eyes and nose, the paroxysms of sneezing were uncontrollable, and I had terrible burning pains in my head. I learned of your Double Treatment for Catarrh and Hay Fever and procured it at once. After having used three bottles of the remedies I was entirely cured. I heartily endorse your valuable medicine, and advise all Hay Fever sufferers to give it a trial. (Signed)

At the Grand Canyon of the Yellowstone.

"Where the road turns to the left at Grand View, walk out over the salient of rock at the angle itself, or down on the farthest chimney shaft, over rocks naturally white, but now blackened by weathering. If possible, go there in the morning or in the latter part of the afternoon. At noontime the light is too strong, and the details of the canyon are smothered, and the individuality of the walls killed. But with a soft morning or afternoon light every detail of one or the other of the walls leaps out from the general masses instinct with life. And what a wonderful sea it is that lies beneath and beyond us. A painted sea, not of water but of rock. And such painting! Try to distinguish the blended colors and their infinite variations. The most wonderful part of it is the rare blending, where one fades into another, and yet then canst detect neither the beginning nor the ending."

The above is taken from "Wonderland 97," a new tourist book that tells all about Yellowstone Park.

"A climb up Electric Peak; a ride over Mount Everts; a trip to Yancey's; paddling about Yellowstone Lake; camping out down at Two Ocean Pass; a ride into the Hoodoo country; an excursion down the Madison to Riverside—all these can be made from some one of the hotels as a rendezvous, and take my word for it you will be surprised at the results.

"Make up a party of congenial spirits for vacation time in 1897 and go out to Yellowstone Park and see how much of its 3,344 square miles can be seen before you return. Spend the heated summer season at hotels where the temperature and altitude will allow genuine comfort and recreation."

Friends of M. S. Keralian, a former artist of this city, will be interested in knowing of his success at Chicago, where he teaches at the university. Mr. Keralian has a studio in Central Music Hall where he is generally patronized by the art lovers of the big city. He has made copies of a number of famous pictures which have brought a big price.

One of the most dangerous counterfeit coins yet seen has been reported to the authorities. It is a silver fifty cent piece, with the letter S under the eagle, which would indicate in a good coin that it was made at the San Francisco mint. Only the most careful tests revealed its spurious character. It was slightly under weight, but had the correct ring, and is evidently nearly, if not quite, standard in fineness of its silver.

The sacred musical given at the St. Paul M. E. church last evening was a great success. The church was crowded to overflowing and the two vocal solos sung by Miss Florence Young, of Chicago, were very fine, as was the piano solo by Will Kilien and the recitations by Baby Georgia Worth and Miss May Williams. Miss Nora Scott's essay on "Education, True and False," and the duet by Miss Kilien and Miss Stone were pleasing to the audience.

The entries for the Fort Wayne races commencing on the 9th of next month, will close next Tuesday. The list is one of the largest ever made for this city and comprises the best horses on the turf today. It has been reported that the Buffalo meeting would conflict with the Fort Wayne dates. Such report is entirely false. The only races occurring on the dates of the Fort Wayne meeting are those at Fort Erie, which are not in the circuit at all. "Old Man Hamlin" will be here with his fall stable, as he has always been. Secretary Rockhill is at Cleveland today to complete a number of entries of horses which will start there this week.

The Home Telephone company alleges that the Bell company is violating its franchise by extending its lines in territory where it has no right. City Clerk Monning has been looking up all of the ordinances relating to the matter to report the status of the situation to City Attorney Shambaugh. So far as he has investigated the company has not gone beyond its territory. He says the original franchise and the supplementary ones gives the Bell people the privilege of all the principal streets and alleys in the city.

Tomorrow will be Grand Army day at Island park, Rome City. Besides the welcoming address and response, Capt. J. S. Dodge, the department commander, will also speak. Army songs, music, speaking, recitations, etc., will form a part of the elaborate program for the forenoon, and in the afternoon a similar program will be presented. At 6:30 p. m. there will be a camp fire, led by the department commander, and the exercises will close at 8:30 in the evening with music, elocution and a lecture. A delegation of comrades will leave tomorrow morning to attend the event.

LIVELY RUNAWAY.

Team Owned by J. B. White Creates Some Excitement.

Daring Act of Bravery on the Part of Motorman J. Thomson—The Chapter of Accidents.

About noon today, as Jack McMahon was loading some counters into one of J. B. White's wagons, in front of the Lathrop china store on Court street, the team ran away. McMahon was in the wagon at the time and was jolted out, but escaped with slight injuries. As the runaway team ran on to Main street, J. Thomson, a motorman on the Main street line, stopped his car and at the risk of his own life caught the bridle of the nearest horse. He succeeded in swerving the team so that they ran into the court house fence and came to a standstill. It was a daring act for the motorman, but he came out of it without a scratch.

OTHER ACCIDENTS.

A misfortune, which is often the lot of the cyclist, overtook James E. Lonergan, of THE SENTINEL's bindery, yesterday. It's the old story of loose gravel, a header, skinned limbs and damaged wheel and clothing. The accident happened near Roanoke, and Mr. Lonergan came home on a train.

The young son of Joseph Lauer, a carpenter, who resides on Erie street, was run over by a careless driver last night at the corner of Erie and Canal streets. The youngster received a bad cut above the right eye and had his leg painfully bruised. The driver hurried from the scene as fast as possible and his identity is unknown.

H. A. Howe, who had been in Nashville, Tenn., as one of the Indiana senators to the supreme session of the National Union, on last Thursday, with the other senators, was in a group posing for a photographer. When everything was in readiness the platform on which Mr. Howe was standing broke. He was thrown to the ground and under one of the timbers and suffered severe bruises to his left leg. Although causing him some inconvenience, the wounds are not dangerous.

Last night at 11 o'clock Sergeant Daseler, while walking on the street, slipped and sprained his back. He started for his home alone but was compelled to call assistance. The sergeant is suffering greatly and fears are entertained that he may be laid up for some time.

The Fort Waynes met with their worst defeat of the season at Dayton yesterday before an audience of about 1,500 people. The opposing pitchers were Herr and Brown, and the Fort Waynes commenced to solve Brown's delivery as if they would be victors. He settled down after five hits had been made in two innings and only allowed five more hits in six innings. With Herr it was different, and the longer the game lasted the harder he was batted. The first three runs of the game were earned. After two were out Fisk made a three bagger and J. Keenan a single, scoring a run. The Fort Wayne's made two after two men were out on O'Meara's two bagger, Campbell's single and McKevitt's two base hit. They made another in the second and Dayton scored one, the only time in the game that Fort Wayne was ahead. There was no regular umpire in Dayton and Darby, of Fort Wayne, and Armour, one of the owners of the Daytons, umpired. A Dayton audience is very one sided and not only hissed Darby if a decision did not suit them, but even hissed Armour when he made a decision favorable to Fort Wayne. The team went to New Castle last night and President Meyer went with them.

INTERSTATE LEAGUE.

Fort Wayne at New Castle.
Dayton at Mansfield.
Toledo at Wheeling.
Springfield at Youngstown.

NOTES.

Bates and Kellner, a new battery, have been signed by Dayton. They were with the Terre Haute team when the Central league disbanded.

The Robison Park teams line-up with the following per cent.: Spy Runs, 1,000; Keystones, 800; Shamrocks, 500; Rifles, 333; Blues, 333; Standards, .166.

The Spy Run-Keystone game at League park yesterday afternoon was won in a walk by the Spy Runs. The wind-up was 16 to 6. Foultz pitched for the Keystones, Robbins for Spy Runs.

Hoffmeister, who was purchased from Springfield by the Pittsburg National league club, made three hits in three times at bat Saturday in the game against Baltimore, one a three bagger. He batted in five runs and figured in four other tallies, and made two errors, but they cost nothing.

New Castle Courant-Guardian: "The New Castle management seem to be desirous of selling all their best players. It is now stated that deals are being made whereby Second Baseman Miller will be sold to Brooklyn, and Outfielder Fleming to Cleveland.—We can't always win from Toledo. A shut-out squeeze isn't so bad, anyhow."

The New Haven base ball club suffered its first defeat of the season yesterday, the Coldwater club defeating them by a score of 8 to 7. The battery for the Coldwaters was James Ahearn and Henry Pohle. Ahearn struck out seventeen men and only four hits were made off his delivery. Several hundred people from this city witnessed the game.

The Shamrocks could not connect with Lutz's benders, and fell down before the Blues yesterday afternoon. The Blues touched Quinn up for fourteen hits. The Blues' work in the field was up to date. Quinn was given poor support behind the rubber. Lutz, Kickley, Wonife and Lewark put up some excellent work. The score was 11 to 3. Batteries—Quinn and Moran; Lutz and Braden.

Toledo Bee: "John Cox Strouthers has been deposed as manager of the Mansfield team, and the question naturally arises, where will he go now? Strouthers has had a skyrocket finish in several leagues and the sensation of being dropped is not new to him by any means. A ball player of fair ability himself, he lacks all the necessary requirements of a successful manager, and will never succeed in that capacity. And—it's hard to say it, but it's a fact—few people care whether Strouthers succeeds or not."

The Rifles took another jump up the percentage column yesterday. The Standards were their opponents. Hendrix kept the Standards from making the circuit until the sixth inning, when the Rifles went to pieces. Before the last man was down four of the Standards had crossed the rubber. Green finished the game for the Rifles. The Rifles made a few Texas leaguers, and won out in the ninth. Goff's work on second for the Standards was a feature of the game. Score: Rifles, 7; Standards, 4. Batteries—Hendrix, Green and Hewitt; Miller and Meyers.

Mansfield News: "In the seventh inning Cooke made a senseless kick against being called out on being clearly thrown out on second. Mississippi advanced from the bench to suggest that it made no difference—Monny could see it was an out—whereat Cooke flew into a great rage, 'jawed' the pitcher, ordered him to sit down, threatened, bullied and blustered and announced his intention of 'fixing him' to work him good and hard, etc. It was the next inning that Mansfield got two singles, two doubles and four runs—but Monnehan couldn't help that. He was doing the best he could. Cooke made an ass of himself—that's all."

Jackson Citizen: "Jackson will enter the Inter-State league. That was determined upon by Mr. Hayden and Manager Cushman Saturday, when informed Lansing would not be here to play the game scheduled for Sunday. Mr. Hayden proposes to maintain the Jackson team and should the state league quit, the local team will continue to play. Saturday night Manager Cushman went to Toledo and there made formal application for admission to the Inter-State league, providing the Michigan State league becomes an organization of the past, which condition would not be learned with any degree of surprise as matters appear at present. Other than stating he had made the application mentioned, Mr. Cushman had nothing to say. It is known, however, that one or two of the Inter-State league towns are at present gasping for the breath of life, and there may soon be a vacancy. It is understood that so long as the Michigan State league maintains its present organization Jackson will remain in it."

SAYS IT IS NOT TRUE.

Last Saturday rumors were current on the streets that several of the Fort Wayne players were drinking and that Friday last several of them were so drunk at Mansfield that they staggered on the ball field and one could not play. President Meyer was at Dayton yesterday and Captain Cooke stated positively that none of the players were drunk and each player said as much for himself. Sharp injured his hand and was unable to play on Friday, and even now should not be in the game. President Meyer says that he will sift the rumors down and offers a reward to the persons who saw last Friday's game if they will prove that players were drunk. He will punish them according to their deserts. The players who were accused of being drunk are now playing the best ball, while others whom it is known do not drink are not playing up to the standard. Some of the players were mutinous and were peeved at Captain Cooke, and it is doubtful if any games would have been won had not President Meyer put in his appearance. When the team left Dayton they promised to settle down and win half the games. Deyers is sick and the other pitchers are not in the best of condition, and President Meyer is negotiating with Alloway and Stewart and hopes to sign them.

INVESTMENTS.

Hold Your Own Security, Then There Will be No Danger of Loss.

Have you money? If so, do not let it be idle, but seek the safest investment possible. The safest way to invest money is in first mortgages on real estate, and through a company which gives you the privilege of holding the security and will pay you the interest when due. This is our plan, and we have on hand at all times mortgages in any amount to suit the investor. Our loans are based on a conservative appraisement and in no case exceed 45% of the actual value of the security.

We also give investors the privilege of examining the security. We maintain a reserve fund to protect maturing interests and pay the interest to our investors when due, collecting it from the borrower ourselves.

We ask that you carefully investigate our plan before investing your money. It will be to your interest to do so.
